Wilder Collaborative Inventory

- The Wilder Collaboration Factors Inventory was developed by the Wilder Research Center to help collaborative groups succeed. The Center researched a great deal of information and many studies on collaboration and found that there are twenty factors that were repeatedly shown to influence the success of collaborative groups

All members of the HBLC will be completing the inventory between the months of October –December 2006. The inventory will be distributed in several ways, it will be handed out at HBLC meetings, emailed to HBLC members, and will also be available on SurveyMonkey.com. The results of the Inventory will be available in the first quarter of 2007.
